

SYSTEM CONFIGURATION

AT A GLANCE

Point-and-Click Configuration

POSSE's core strength is a point-and-click configuration subsystem that can be used to develop end user applications—for colleagues, for mobile workers, and for external web users—in a fraction of the time of a custom build.

No Need to Code

POSSE is fully configurable. All business rules, processes, objects, security, data integration, and interfacing data are configured and stored in POSSE as metadata. You can quickly create end user workflows and maintain them based on your business rules, security protocols, organizational processes and terminology.

Easy Modification

A one-stop GUI-based layout painter enables the quick and flexible creation of end user browser-based presentations, to match the look and feel of your current internal and external websites. Once you configure a business process, you can modify it further as requirements and processes evolve.

Save Time with Templates

POSSE's template and copying functions compress current configuration cycles. Changes and new workflow can be moved into production within hours or days rather than weeks or months.

POSSE also features a number of pre-defined components that can be quickly added to your configuration. Search Presentations, User Details, Notes, Warnings, Projects (parent job/ job/sub-job hierarchy), and Responsible Parties for Fees panes are all automatically generated with the selection of a single option.
